Demo Use: Data-room ingestion and citation testing

Executive View

- Solaris recognized $3.84 million of 2025 revenue from OUS evaluation units, physician training kits, engineering services, and minimum distributor commitments.
- No U.S. commercial product revenue was recognized because Solaris Arc has not received U.S. marketing authorization.

Concentration

- Top three accounts represented 58% of 2025 recognized revenue.
- Hanse Neurovascular GmbH represented 24%.
- St. Brigid Research Hospital represented 19%.
- MedBridge Education represented 15%.

Contract Durability

- Hanse Neurovascular has a 2026 minimum purchase commitment of $1.45 million.
- St. Brigid Research Hospital has a $620,000 evaluation and training purchase order.
- MedBridge Education has a $240,000 physician training kit commitment.
- Some commitments can be delayed or terminated for unshipped units, creating timing risk.

Diligence Conclusion

- Revenue quality is acceptable for a pre-clearance medtech company but should not be valued like recurring commercial revenue.
- Investors should underwrite revenue using scenario analysis tied to regulatory timing, distributor renewals, and clinical-site activation.
